For Police in every jurisdiction, for Attorneys in nearly every practice area, for Social Services, there are special needs and desires that require a specialist now and then.

You recognize that these needs are amplified by increased demands upon already-overtaxed colleagues, providers, institutions. Moreover, the pressures of our stress-impacted society only puts more demands upon you and your organization.

We can help you Today in small or big ways to make your workload and success easier.

We can provide some very special individuals, including PhD, MD and MPH experienced persons from several disciplines and with multiple skills. In particular, we can provide one person on very rapid turn-around notice and I can speak in the "first person" about this.

- Expert witness services in several areas of science, medicine and engineering.
- Expert witness and consulting services with respect to criminal, family and other civil law.
- Investigative assistance with respect to behavioral analysis, profiling and problems with both current and old, unsolved cases - the ones where victims' families and the police would like closure even after years.
- Selective undercover assistance, of a type that you cannot find among the usual sources.
- Mobility nationally and globally if necessary.
- Assistance in finding reliable personnel for consulting services including translation and cultural analysis, particularly for several groups in which organized crime, financial crime, and domestic disputes often arise and run into an impasse for both law enforcement, arbitration and social services.

We can provide assistance that is in analysis, forensics, writing, verbal communications, and field investigation including interaction with virtually any social or cultural group. We can provide a full roster of examples from prior work, plus ample personal and security references.

You need and would like to have our assistance, not because of something lacking in your organization, but because the Problems we face Together are more complex, more demanding, more threatening, more unpredictable than those which any of us have faced before. We can make faster and more economical results possible even with limited and cut-back budgets, very creatively.

Sincerely,

Martin Dudziak, PhD
Chief Scientist
